WAREHOUSING

In addition to transportation services, Logiways provides comprehensive warehousing solutions to support the storage and distribution needs of our clients. Our state-of-the-art warehouses are equipped with advanced inventory management systems and security measures to ensure the safe handling and storage of goods. From short-term storage to long-term inventory management, Logiways offers flexible warehousing solutions designed to optimize supply chain operations and streamline logistics processes.

Warehousing services encompass a wide range of functions aimed at optimizing storage, handling, and distribution operations within the supply chain.

ROAD EXPRESS

Road express, also known as road freight or road transportation, refers to the movement of goods and cargo by road. It involves the use of trucks, vans, or other vehicles to transport shipments from one location to another, typically overland.

Road express services offer a versatile and efficient means of transportation for a wide range of goods, from small parcels to large, oversized items. Whether it's local deliveries within a city or long-haul transportation across states or even countries, road express plays a crucial role in supply chain logistics.

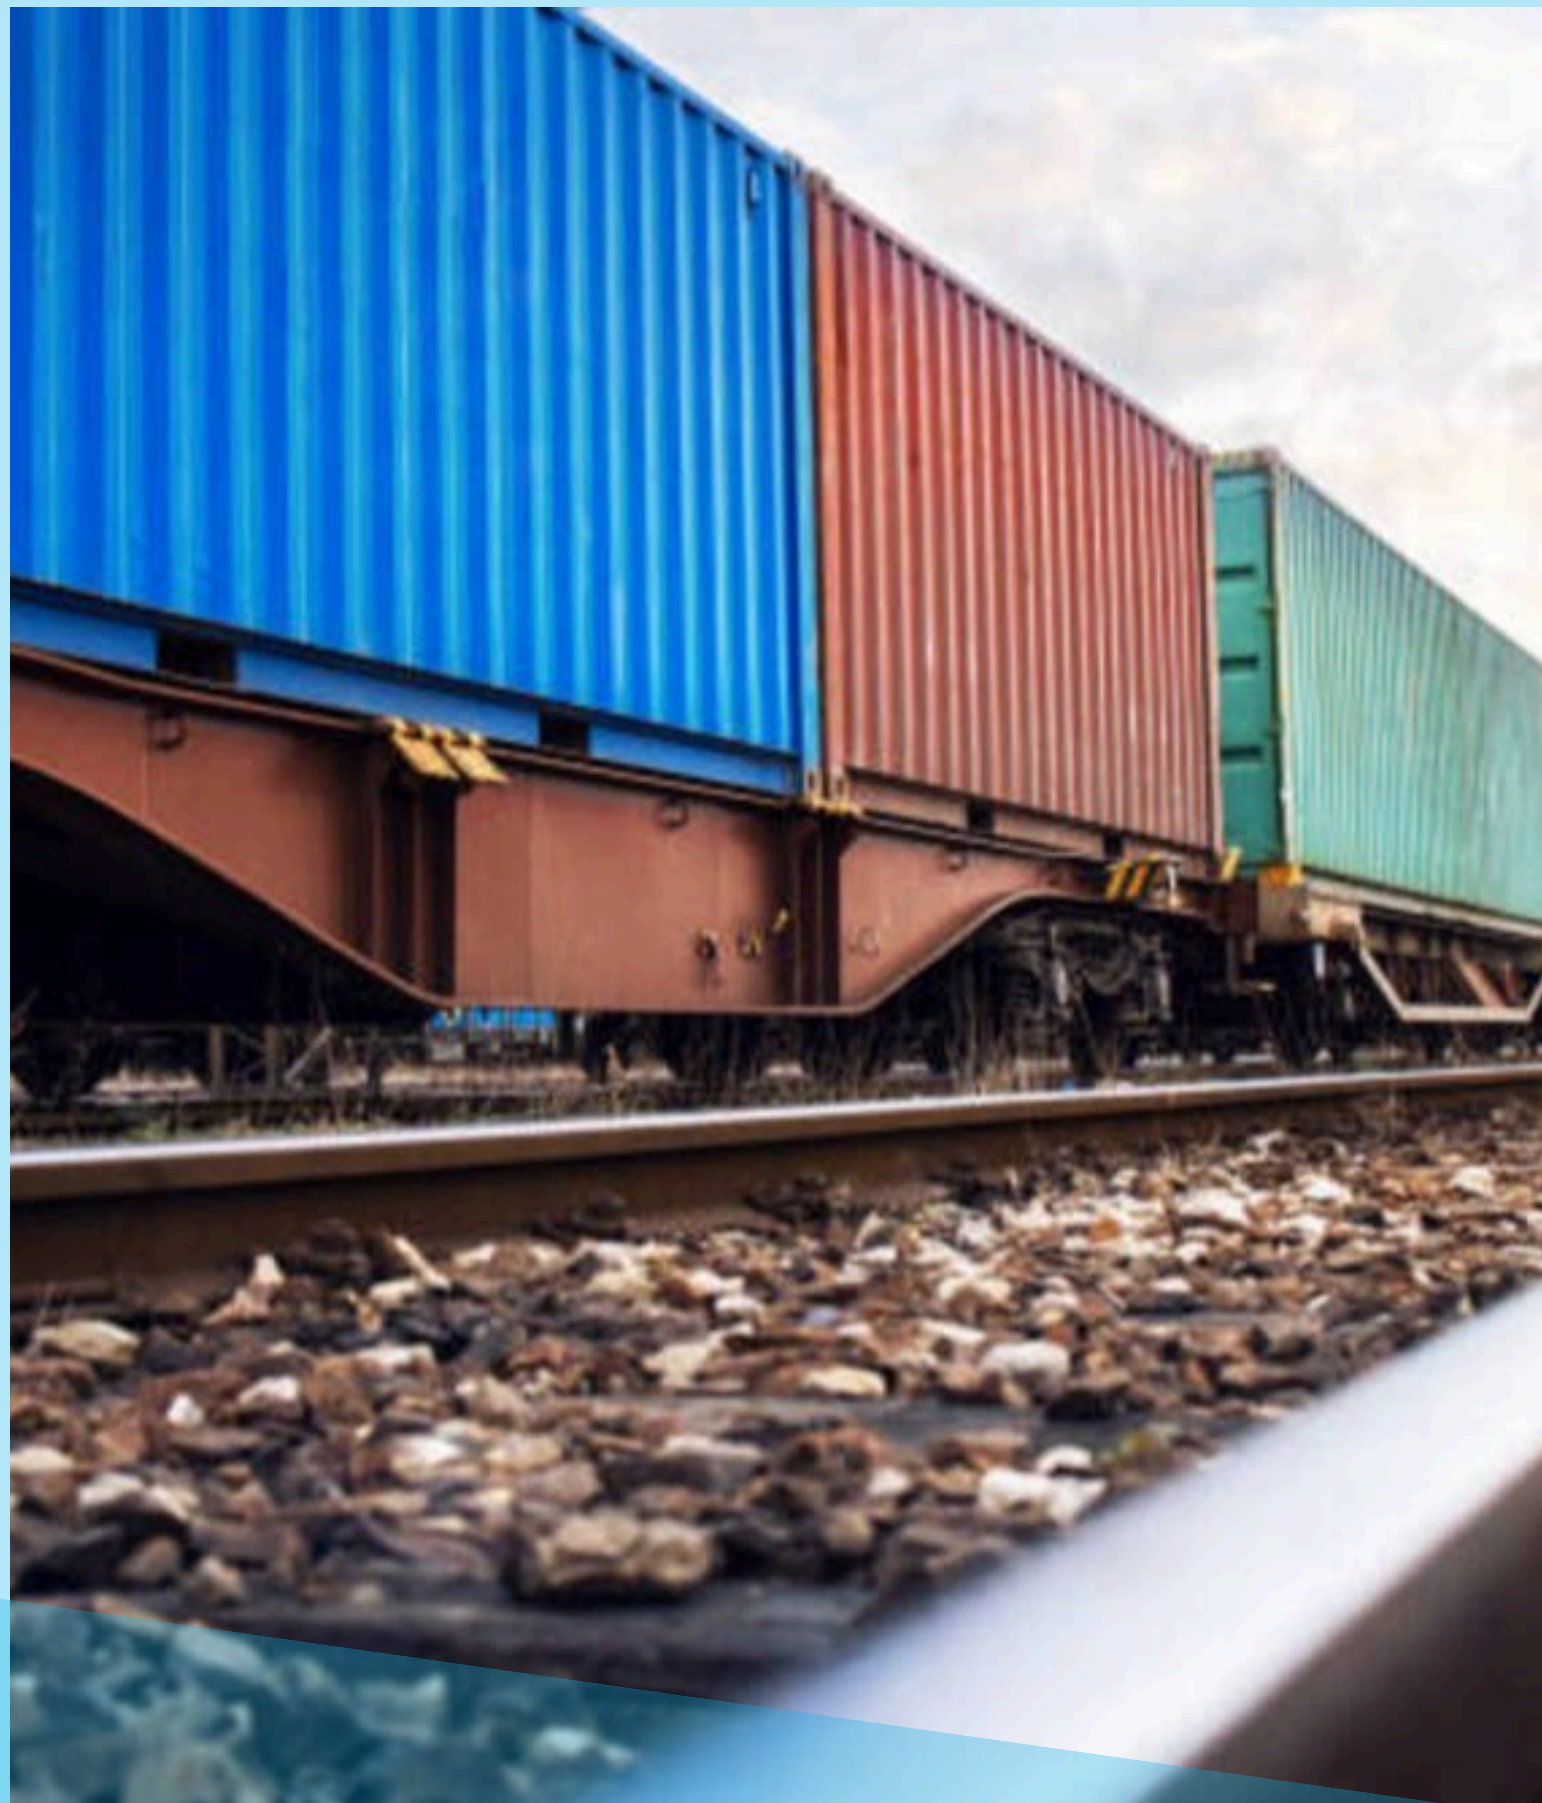

AIR EXPRESS

Take your logistics to new heights with Logiways's air freight services. We understand the urgency and precision required when it comes to aerial transportation, and we're committed to delivering your cargo with unmatched speed, reliability, and efficiency.

When you choose Logiways for your air freight needs, you're choosing a partner dedicated to excellence in every aspect of the process. From the moment your goods are tendered to us until they reach their final destination, we ensure meticulous handling and swift transit.

TRAIN EXPRESS

Train express service, also referred to as rail freight or train transportation, involves the movement of goods and cargo by train from one location to another. It utilizes railway networks and specialized freight trains to transport shipments efficiently and cost-effectively overland.

Why Choose Logiways Train Express Service?

FTL

Our dedicated FTL services provide cost-effective transportation of large shipments. We optimize load planning and route management to ensure efficient, reliable delivery for bulk cargo needs.

At Logiways, we pride ourselves on offering a comprehensive Full Truck Load (FTL) service that goes beyond mere transportation. With us, your cargo isn't just moved; it's handled with an unwavering commitment to excellence, ensuring reliability, timeliness, and secure deliveries throughout the journey.
